

CHAUFFEUR CAUGHT AFTER KILLING BOY AND RUNNING AWAY

Was Speeding With Girl Friend When Machine Hurl'd Lad to Mother's Feet.

HELD FOR HOMICIDE.

Didn't Think Victim Was Badly Hurt, He Says, so He Kept Going.

Theodore Grand, a young chauffeur, was arrested this afternoon for killing twelve-year-old Charles Summers last night at the door of the boy's home, No. 35 Bedford avenue, Williamsburg. He admitted that he was driving the car which struck the little fellow.

Detectives Fogarty and Brady of Brooklyn headquarters found Grand in his living room over a private garage in the rear of the residence of his employer, Charles Cranley, at No. 53 Herkimer street. Mr. Cranley is the owner of a moving picture house in Fulton street.

The chauffeur said he had been taking a girl friend, whose name he would not give, for a ride. He was hurrying his companion to her home in order to meet the master when he ran down the Sommer's boy. Thinking, he said, that the victim had not been seriously hurt he sped on without stopping. He was hooked up in a charge of homicide.

The car had just come across the Williamsburg bridge. It was going at such a frightful rate of speed that the woman in the rear could be seen rolling from side to side.

Policeman English of the Vernon avenue station heard the car's approach, he stood at Bedford and Flushing avenues, and took a stand in the middle of the street.

Ten feet away, playing in front of his home, was the Sommer's boy. His mother had just stepped down the stoop and called him to go to bed when the machine shot around the corner, the chauffeur ignoring the warning hand held up by the policeman, and almost running the latter down.

Young Summers had not time to dodge the car. He was struck full force and his body hurled a distance of twenty-five feet. The body, mangled and crushed, fell on the first step of the Sommer's home and at the very feet of the dead boy's mother. Mrs. Sommer dropped unconscious.

When the auto struck the boy, witnesses said, the woman leaped over, said something to the chauffeur, and the car leaped forward with such speed a rear wheel hit the curb.

Before Mrs. Sommer was restored to consciousness the body of her dead boy was carried into the house. Doctors said he had died instantly. His neck was broken and his body crushed.

CORONER'S PHYSICIAN IN QUEENS IS OUSTED.

Appellate Division Decides That Dr. Wm. H. Nammack Was Not Legally Named.

James Greelman, of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, was sustained in his contention in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court today, that only two of the three physicians acting as coroners' physicians in the Borough of Queens are legally entitled to payment for their services.

The confusion in the Coroner's office in Queens existed since January 1, 1908, when Coroner Samuel D. Nutt appointed Dr. Timothy D. Ryan and Dr. William H. Nammack, and the Board of Coroner's subsequently appointed a third coroner's physician, Dr. Walter G. Frey, although the law authorizes only two physicians to serve in that official capacity in that borough.

After Dr. Nammack had been declared by the courts not to have a legal right to the office he was again appointed, this time by Coroner Schaeffer on March 8, 1910. Comptroller Prendergast stopped payment of the salary of the physician, which is $1,500 a year.

A writ of mandamus was granted to Dr. Nammack in Special Term of the Supreme Court to compel the Civil Service Commission to certify his name as Coroner's physician on the regular monthly payroll. Mr. Greelman, as President of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, appealed. The Court says Dr. Nammack cannot claim any rights under the civil service and was not legally appointed.

TWO GANGSTERS GET LONG TERMS IN STATE'S PRISON

Twenty Year Sentences Imposed On Gun Fighters Who "Got" Their Men.

Two more fighters were today sentenced by Judge Foster in the Court of General Sessions to serve indeterminate sentences ranging from twenty years to life imprisonment in Sing Sing. Both had been convicted of murder in the second degree.

William Jones, known as "Scotty," was a member of the Gas House Gang. On the night of March 15 of his companions attacked him after a dispute over gang management. While the other gangsters held Jones on the sidewalk at Thiel avenue and East Twenty-second street, and were beating him, Jones drew a revolver and fired. The shot killed William Lynght. In imposing sentences the Judge told Jones that he was a bad member of society and that the town would be better off with him safely behind the bars for the rest of his life.

Albert Rooney was the second of the gang men to get the long trip up the river. About two months ago he had a quarrel with Dominio Martello concerning which of them should enjoy the next dance with a girl at a dance hall at No.
14 Second avenue. The men went into the hallway of the building to fight.
During the fight Rooney drew a revolver and killed Martello.

"You should have thought when you put that pistol in your pocket," said the Judge, "of the possible consequences of the act."

Both Rooney and the man he killed were members of the same east side gang.

Twenty-five Bronx Tradesmen Are Fined for Unfair Sales to Patrons.

Inspectors of the Bureau of Weights and Measures arrested twenty-five tradesmen in the Bronx today and arrested them before Judge Shell in the Municipal Court of the Morrisania District. All of the prisoners were fined, the fines ranging from $5 to $25.

The most important arrests were made by Mrs. Henlein, the only woman inspector assigned to duty in the Bronx.
She found that the spring scale in Harry Sheehan's grocery store at No. 501 East One Hundred and Fifty-sixth street, weighed fifteen ounces as a pound. Sheehan was fined $25. Mrs.
Henlein ordered a five-pound log of lamb in the butcher shop of Felix Cantani at No. 102 Westchester avenue and got it weighed for her four ounces short. The butcher was fined $25.

In imposing the fines Judge Shell warned the defendants that the next time they appeared in court the minimum fine would be about $100.

HOW TO BEAUTIFY YOUR COMPLEXION

"Adding permanent beauty to the face, neck and arms is by no means a difficult matter," says Mae Martyn in the San Francisco Times. "But the greatest mistake which thousands of women make daily is the practice of smearing their faces with powder. This stops up the pores in the skin, causing pimples, enlarged pores and other facial blemishes that are difficult to overcome."

"The best skin whitener and complexion beautifier known to beauty specialists is made by dissolving four ounces spirum in one-half pint hot water with two teaspoonfuls glycerine added. This inexpensive lotion is very fine for clearing up a rough, oily or sallow skin. It quickly corrects a shiny, lifeless condition giving the skin a smooth, healthy tone. After once you try it, you will have no further use for face powder as it doesn't show or rub off so easily."—Advt.

SMOKED AND DRANK WINE WITH MEN IS HUSBAND'S CHARGE

Samuel Stansfield Hits at Wife's Separation Suit by Divorce Testimony.

SANG TILL 4 O'CLOCK.

New York Police Sergeant Tells of Party in Her Apartment.

(Special to The Evening World.) WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 6.— Mrs. Eugene Stansfield was recalled to the witness stand today to be cross-examined by counsel for her husband, Samuel Stansfield, whom she is suing for a separation on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment, before Supreme Court Justice Tompkins. She wore a new hat trimmed with big red roses, but otherwise she had on the same black silk dress that she has worn during the two days of the trial.

Mrs. Stansfield swore yesterday that she had been in Europe only once, and counsel for Mr. Stansfield endeavored to prove she had been there twice. He read from a diary in which it was alleged she had written that she was at the Rock of Gibraltar during 1905.
Mrs. Stansfield declared with emphasis that she had never seen the diary before.

"Is your memory better today than yesterday?" she was asked.
"My memory is much better at this stage of the game," she replied.
Mrs. Stansfield said that at one time after her husband had abused her he gave her a bracelet.

"He said to me, as he was placing it on my arm," she swore, "that he could not control himself and that every time he abused me the bracelet would be a curse to him."

Counsel for Mr. Stansfield vigorously fought today to have this answer struck out, but Justice Tompkins declined the motion.

"The witness told of an instance while she was living with her husband at Purchase four years ago, when he asked her to mix a cocktail.
"After I did," she said, "he wanted a glass of beer. I told the servant to say there was no beer. My husband then struck me and broke open a door where the beer had been locked in."

DENIES LOANING HUSBAND'S CLOTHES.

"Mrs. Stansfield, did you ever loan any of your husband's clothing to anyone named Lawyer Henderson for Mr.
Stansfield?"

"Only men on my place," she replied.
"Did you ever let your counsel, Mr.
Lynch, wear one of your husband's suits?"
"No, never."
"It was no discredit to counsel," said Justice Tompkins, "if he was given a suit on account."

"The trouble is I did not get the suit," the lawyer exclaimed, and speculators in the courtroom roared.
Sergeant William N. Tobolsky of the New York Police Department, who occupied an apartment adjoining one rented by Mrs. Stansfield during July and August, 1905, at No. 30 West Eighty-first street, was called as a witness for Mr. Stansfield in defense of the separation action brought by Mrs. Stansfield to substantiate Stansfield's charges against her in his divorce suit. Dol-lyn said that Saturday night he was in his kitchen and he looked across into the apartment of Mrs. Stansfield in fear.

"I saw Mrs. Stansfield in a light gown pouring champagne and smoking cigarettes. There were two men and two women sitting around a table and they were all drinking and smoking. They were singing and yelling, and the noise which attracted my attention continued until 4 o'clock in the morning. One man was in his shirt sleeves. They were not singing gospel hymns either."

Falls to Recover His Job.
Thomas J. Sullivan, who was dismissed from his position as foreman of cabinet-makers in the Bureau of Public Buildings in Manhattan by Borough President McAneny in October, 1909, for economic reasons, was denied a writ of mandamus today by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, to which he appealed for reinstatement. Sullivan was dropped after President McAneny found there were two foremen for nine cabinet-makers and cabinet-makers. Sullivan claimed protection of the Civil Service act, but the Court found against him.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotics, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest dose for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
